

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

FOREWORD

The Year Book of the Churches has been well received. Its users approve changes included when it succeeded the Federal Council Year Book. Their comment and the reviews that have appeared in daily papers and religious periodicals assure the publishers that it has met the need for a complete and handy directory of religious bodies and organizations, with statistics and general information.

The 1919 edition is offered, therefore, with an assurance of its value to purchasers. The material will be brought to date and a new issue will appear each year in January. The necessity for annual publication is shown by the 1600 changes made this year in the Directories alone, Part I and Part II.

The secretary of one of the denominational boards wrote the editor, "I can conceive how it may be made more valuable every year." It is the intention of the publishers to improve the volume annually and they will be glad to receive suggestions from all users.

New material added this year includes figures just compiled by the Federal Bureau of the Census concerning the property values of the various denominations, their property debts, and their current expenses. New statistics are printed also concerning the war work of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. A complete list of the chaplains of the Army and Navy is included, which is not available elsewhere. Plans are already laid for additional new material to be printed in the 1920 volume.

It remained for a church organization to publish this book because the anticipated sale will not pay the costs of manufacture, sale and distribution—not to mention collating and editing. The advance in price to 75 cents leaves the book still a financial loss, but it will be published annually to fill a need and to help further the work of the Kingdom.

Purpose of this organization: To provide social and recreational facilities for all soldiers and sailors irrespective of race or creed and to provide for the religious wants of Catholic soldiers. Buildings have been erected in the cantonments and encampments where the men are provided with all possible club conveniences, including stationery and libraries, and where entertainments, including dramatic productions, concerts, lectures, and athletic events are held at frequent intervals. On Sundays these buildings serve as chapels and Catholic services are held at convenient hours. This work will also be duplicated abroad, both in the concentration camps and at the front. The naval training stations are included among the encampments and cantonments.

CHURCH ORGANIZATIONS

The term "church organization" includes any organization for religious worship which has a separate membership, whether called a church proper, congregation, meeting, society, mission, station, or chapel, etc.

The total number of church organizations in 1916 was 227,487, as reported by 201 denominations, counting the independent miscellaneous congregations as the equivalent of one denomination. The report for 1906 showed a total of 212,230 organizations as reported by 188 denominations, and that for 1890 a total of 165,151, as reported by 145 denominations.

The difference in the number of denominations in 1916, as compared with 1906, is the net result of the consolidation or dropping out of 16 small denominations and the addition of 29 small denominations, the latter including those actually in existence in 1906, but not then brought to light; those resulting from the consolidation of churches, many of which were reported in 1906 as "independent"; and those resulting from reorganization within existing denominations.

The small increase in the number of church organizations since 1906 is due to a general tendency toward consolidation and conservation rather than expansion, and to shrinkage and disintegration consequent on migration among the poorer and immigrant people, especially in the South and West. The large increase from 1890 to 1906, on the other hand, was due to more thorough investigation and more nearly complete returns in 1906, to heavy immigration, and to a general effort toward denominational expansion.

CHURCH MEMBERS

The term "members" has a variety of uses. In most Protestant bodies it is limited to communicants or confirmed members; in the Roman Catholic, Eastern, and some other churches it includes all baptized persons, while in some bodies it covers enrolled persons.

The whole number of members reported by all religious bodies for 1916 was 41,926,854, as compared with a total for 1906 of 32,936,445, and for 1890 of 20,597,954 members. These figures show an apparent increase in church members since 1906 of 8,990,409, but allowance must be made for the difference in the membership of the Roman Catholic Church, as given for 1916, as compared with the figures used in the reports for 1906 and 1890. The membership of the Roman Catholic Church covers, as above stated, all baptized persons, including infants; but in the reports for 1890 and 1906 a deduction of 15 per cent was made to cover those under nine years of age, as this was understood to be the age at which the first communion is usually taken; but no similar deductions were made for the Eastern and other churches having a similar basis of membership, because of the very much smaller numbers involved. In providing for the present census of religious bodies, however, it was decided, after most careful consideration, to credit each denomination with its total membership, irrespective of the varying conditions of membership, whether of age or otherwise. On this basis of deduction, the total reported membership of the Roman Catholic Church for 1890 (7,343,186) was reduced to 6,241,708, and that for 1906 (14,210,755) to 12,079,142. This made a difference for 1906 of 2,131,613, and, if this deduction had not been made in the report for that year, the total membership of all religious bodies for 1906 would have been 35,068,058, indicating an increase for the ten years from 1906 to 1916 of 6,858,796, or 19.6 per cent. On a similar basis, the total membership of all religious bodies for 1890 would have been 21,699,432, representing an increase for the sixteen years from 1890 to 1906 of 13,368,626, or 61.6 per cent.

The three branches of Baptists together comprised 6,879,584 members, but if all seventeen Baptist bodies are included the total Baptist membership is increased to 7,153,313. Similarly, the two principal Methodist bodies together comprised 5,832,264 members, but if all Methodist bodies, seventeen in number, are included, the total Methodist membership is increased to 7,166,451. The Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., as shown by the above summary, is credited with 1,611,251 members, but including the other nine Presbyterian bodies the total Presbyterian membership in 1916 was 2,255,626. As shown on page 180 the twenty-one Lutheran bodies, as a whole, had a total membership of 2,467,516, of which 777,701 was reported for the Synodical Conference alone and 540,642 for the General Council.

The membership herewith reported for the Jewish Congregations requires some explanation. Some congregations reported as members all who contribute to the treasury of the congregation and not infrequently included women and children. The more orthodox, on the other hand, reported only those males who have incorporated the institution or have bought a share or membership in it, but do not recognize as members those who are regular attendants or are even contributors. The membership thus reported represents a total for 1916 of 357,135 persons, but this figure is not comparable with that given for 1906 (101,457), which then comprised heads of families only.

MINISTERS

The number of ministers listed in this report is the result of information secured from various authoritative sources, either from published reports or through correspondence with representatives of the several denominations. In general, they include only those who are duly authorized to administer the sacraments and to perform all of the usual functions of the ministry, whether or not in active service as pastors in charge of churches.

The whole number of ministers, as reported for the various denominations having regularly ordained ministers, was 191,796 in 1916, as compared with 164,830 in 1906, and 111,036 in 1890.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

The statistics of Sunday schools for 1916 are given and include only those Sunday schools which are conducted by church organizations. They are derived, as before stated, from the returns for the individual churches in the various denominations.

Of the 227,487 church organizations for 1916, a report as to Sunday schools was made for 186,183, or 81.8 per cent. In 1906 there were 167,574 church organizations for which Sunday schools were reported, representing 79 per cent of the total number of church organizations covered by that census, namely, 212,230.

The whole number of Sunday schools reported by the 186,183 church organizations in 1916 was 194,759, with 1,952,631 officers and teachers and 19,935,890 scholars. The report for 1906 gave a total of 178,214 Sunday schools, with 1,648,664 officers and teachers and 14,685,997 scholars.

In addition to the Sunday schools conducted by church organizations, there are a large number of undenominational and union Sunday schools, and statistics of these Sunday schools were secured for 1916, as was the case in 1906, through the agency of the International Sunday School Association. The total number of undenominational and union Sunday schools thus reported for 1916 was 12,535, with 89,952 officers and teachers, and 621,670 scholars. The full strength of the Sunday schools of the country, both denominational and undenominational, for 1916 is represented by a total of 207,294 Sunday schools, with 2,042,583 officers and teachers and 20,557,560 scholars. The equivalent figures for 1906 were 192,722 Sunday schools, 1,746,074 officers and teachers, and 15,337,811 scholars.

NUMBER OF CHURCH EDIFICES

The statistics of church edifices cover buildings used for church services and owned by the congregations using them. The building may be consecrated or unconsecrated, a principal auditorium, a chapel, or a building including auditorium and other rooms for church use. If it is a separate building and is owned by the denomination using it, it is classed as a church edifice. A rented hall, or other building is not included.

The total number of church edifices reported for 1916 was 203,432, against 192,795 in 1906. The largest number reported by any single body was 28,406 by the Methodist Episcopal Church; the National Baptist Convention (Colored), and the Southern Baptist Convention following with 20,146 and 19,770, respectively. The Roman Catholic Church with much the largest membership reported 15,120 church edifices. The seating capacity of church edifices, which was included in the previous censuses, was not called for in 1916 as the figures were difficult to obtain and also unsatisfactory.

VALUE OF CHURCH PROPERTY

The value of church property covers the buildings owned and used for church services by the denominations using them, with their sites and furnishings. Rented buildings or halls, parish houses, schools (theological and parochial), cemeteries, monasteries, convents, etc., are not included, except as in particular instances they are so identified with the auditorium used for services that distinction can not be made.

The total value of such property reported for 1916 was $1,676,600,582, as against $1,257,575,867 in 1906, in increase of $419,024,715, or 33.3 per cent. Especially large increases by single denominations are shown for the Roman Catholic Church, $81,568,108; the Methodist Episcopal Church, $51,746,209; Protestant Episcopal Church, $39,949,652; and Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., $35,356,342.

EXPENDITURES FOR YEAR

These include the amounts for running expenses, repairs and improvements, benevolence, and miscellaneous payments for denominational and general expenses.

The total is $328,809,999. The largest amounts reported were $72,358,136 for the Roman Catholic Church; $43,993,681 for the Methodist Episcopal Church, $30,166,158 for the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.; and $22,509,942 for the Protestant Episcopal Church.

With regard to the figures for members, Sunday schools, church edifices, value of church property, and expenditures, it is to be remembered that in each case do they represent totals reported, rather than the total fact in the entire number of organizations.

DATA ON EDUCATION UNDER CHURCH AUSPICES

The educational system controlled by churches includes:

195,276 Sabbath Schools, with 19,951,675 pupils.

1,500,000 pupils in private elementary schools (90 per cent Catholic).

1,586 high schools or academies with 103,829 students (55 per cent Catholic).

41 Junior, 395 four-year colleges, with approximately 110,000 students in 1918-19.

164 schools of theology with approximately 9,000 students in 1916-17.

As the forces are at present constituted, it can hardly be said that we have a real system of religious education. The Catholics and Lutherans have almost a monopoly on the week-day religious schools, but relatively small interests in the field of higher education; while the reverse is true of practically all other Protestant churches. Thus, there is no continuity in instruction from the lower to the higher grade institutions. Even if this were a coherent system, it is significant that only about 8 per cent of the pupils in the United States below college grade attend week-day religious schools.

In the field of higher education the position of the churches is more secure. Theological instruction is naturally a monopoly under church auspices. In the field of Liberal Arts 436 out of 563 institutions are directly related to some religious organization. Sixty-two of these are Catholic; the remainder having Protestant connections. More than one-half of the students of college grade attend these colleges and universities, and even in state institutions 70 per cent of the students are members of some church. The aggregate resources of these church colleges, including both plant and endowment, are in excess of half a billion dollars, and during the last four years they have been increased by almost thirty million dollars per year. Campaigns under way last year included a total asking of more than $100,000,000. The largest of these, that of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was successfully terminated July 4, 1918, with more than $27,000,000 to its credit.

Bibliography

The Federal Council is an official ecclesiastical organization representing most of the Protestants and aiding the correlation and promotion of their church work. It is listed herewith, as the denominations are, to enable one to know where he may get the information or cooperation he desires.

ITS NATURE AND SCOPE

The Federal Council held its first meeting at Philadelphia in 1908 and was largely the culmination of previous voluntary federative movements, the chief of which had been the Evangelical Alliance and the National Federation of Churches and Christian Workers. The important preliminary work leading up to the organization was accomplished by the Inter-Church Conference on Federation held in Carnegie Hall, New York City, in 1905, a body composed of official delegates from thirty denominations convened through the initiative of the National Federation of Churches and Christian Workers. This conference adopted the Constitution of the Federal Council and transmitted it to the various denominations with the understanding that approval by two-thirds of them would give it full effect. This approval was secured early in 1908.

The difference between the Federal Council and the previous movements is that it is not an individual or voluntary agency, or simply an interdenominational fellowship, but is an officially and ecclesiastically constituted body.

It is differentiated from other general movements for the manifestation of Christian unity in the fact that it is the cooperation of the various denominations for service rather than an attempt to unite them upon definitions of theology and polity.

It does not interfere with the autonomy of these bodies and its Constitution specifically states that "The Federal Council shall have no authority over the constituent bodies adhering to it; but its province shall be limited to the expression of its counsel and the recommending of a course of action in matters of common interest to the churches, local councils, and individual Christians. It has no authority to draw up a common creed or form of government or of worship, or in any way to limit the full autonomy of the Christian bodies adhering to it."

The basis, scope, and limitations of the Council are indicated by the preamble to the Constitution, which reads as follows: "In the providence of God, the time has come when it seems fitting more fully to manifest the essential oneness of the Christian churches of America, in Jesus Christ as their Divine Lord and Savior, and to promote the spirit of fellowship, service, and cooperation among them."

The Federal Council is thus constituted by thirty Protestant evangelical denominations, to express their common voice and unite them in cooperative activities.

It includes 142,671 local churches, with 18,620,136 members. Its constituent Bodies, with statistics, are as follows:

The Council itself consists of 400 members, elected by the thirty denominations, and it convenes every four years. The Executive Committee, consisting of official representatives of the constituent bodies, meets once a year, with additional special meetings. The Administrative Committee meets once a month.

At its National Offices in New York, under the direction of the General Secretary, Executive and Field Secretaries and staff, the Council is engaged in the coordination of Christian forces in the interest of national and international Christian life. A Publication and Printing Department of considerable magnitude is maintained with adequate machinery for reaching the churches, and for the publication of volumes and pamphlets.

The National Offices maintain a staff of about seventy persons engaged in this united work.

The Council has local correspondents in every city of the United States, and has foreign correspondents connected with the Protestant churches of all countries.

In addition to the meetings of its own Committees and Commissions, the Council calls frequent representative conferences upon matters of common interest to all the churches.

At the office in Washington, D. C., affairs of national religious concern are considered by a resident committee, the work including such matters as chaplains in the Army and Navy, the special work in the interest of the colored churches, federation in the Southern field, missionary affairs of national and international concern, and cooperation with the Government Departments and Agencies.

The Council is incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia.

PERMANENT COMMISSIONS

The following are the Permanent Commissions of the Federal Council, together with some description of their work:

COMMISSION ON INTER-CHURCH FEDERATIONS (State and Local)

Chairman Fred B. Smith
Executive Secretary..... Rev. Roy B. Guild

This Commission seeks, in every community having two or more churches, the development of some form of organization by which these churches can cooperate in doing for the religious, social, and civic welfare of the community what they cannot do by working independently of each other.

It plans to do this by personal visitation, correspondence, and literature. It seeks to help construct the machinery in the community through which the churches can work with one another and with other organizations and through which the Commissions of the Federal Council can function.

During the year 1917 this Commission held a conference at Pittsburgh for the purpose of standardizing certain methods of work which have become successful features in the programs of many federations, or are in the period of testing. The eight reports carefully prepared by eight sub-commissions are now published in "The Manual of Inter-Church Work."

There has been a steady increase in the formation of local federations which have secured executive secretaries. Because of the strategic importance of such a secretary in developing the religious life of a city, the Committee on the Securing and Training of Executive Secretaries, of which Mr. Harry Wade Hicks is the Chairman, is planning to hold this year a summer training school for employed and prospective secretaries and ministers and laymen who are interested in this work.

The following State and City Federations have employed Secretaries, whose names and addresses will be found on page 185: California, Indiana, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania; Sacramento, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Atlanta, Chicago, Gary, Indianapolis, Terra Haute, Louisville, Portland (Me.), Duluth, St. Paul, Kansas City, St. Louis, Omaha, Buffalo, New York City, Akron, Dayton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Toledo, Youngstown, Erie, Johnstown (Pa.), Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Norfolk, and Milwaukee.

COMMISSION ON EVANGELISM

Chairman.....James M. Speers
Executive Secretary.....Charles L. Goodell

This Commission is organized to cooperate with the pastors and leaders of the churches in developing and maintaining an effective evangelistic movement throughout the nation. Where there are church federations, it will render any assistance in its power to make effective their federated evangelistic work. It will cooperate with denominational evangelistic commissions where there are no federated movements. In denominations where there are no organized evangelistic commissions it will be glad to give aid in the forming of such commissions and to supply such literature as may be helpful in the development of their work.

The Commission has lately reorganized with James M. Speers as Chairman, and Rev. Charles L. Goodell as Executive Secretary. The latter will be glad to assist conferences and conventions in putting on a program which will exalt the chief business of the church in winning men to God and sending them out for the largest Christian usefulness. He is called to give addresses or courses of lectures before a large number of theological schools of the different denominations, and he will be glad to address ministerial bodies concerning soul winning.

The Commission has an aggressive evangelistic program and will furnish literature and methods wherever desired. It will act as a clearing house for the work of all the denominations and will keep each informed of the methods and results in other fields. Where vocational evangelism is desired it will furnish a list of accredited evangelists. It hopes to be of special service in urging upon churches, where such is needed, in view of the return of our soldiers, a federated Sunday night service. It will also by addresses and literature seek to develop home religion and to make the Sunday school a greater power in the spiritual life of the church.

COMMISSION ON THE CHURCH AND SOCIAL SERVICE

Chairman.....Rev. Henry Churchill King

Executive Secretary.....Rev. Worth M. Tippy

Research Secretary.....Rev. F. Ernest Johnson

The purpose of the Commission is to cooperate with similar church organizations in the study and improvement of social conditions; to encourage the organization of departments or commissions of social service in denominations not so organized; to cooperate with the denominational agencies in organizing local churches for neighborhood and community service; to assist departments of social service in community federations of churches; to cooperate in public welfare effort with national social movements and agencies, and with departments of the national and state governments; to labor to establish social justice, democratic institutions and a Christian international social order.

The following denominations have social service organizations with executive or field secretaries:

Baptist Churches, North: Department of Social Service and Brotherhood, Rev. Samuel Z. Batten, Secretary, 1701 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Methodist Episcopal Church: Federation for Social Service, Rev. Harry F. Ward, 150 Fifth Ave., New York City.

Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.: Rev. Paul Moore Strayer, Chairman of the Social Service Commission, 4 Meigs Street, Rochester, N. Y.

Protestant Episcopal Church: Joint Commission on Social Service, Rev. Frank M. Crouch, Executive Secretary, The Church Missions House, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

Disciples of Christ: Commission on Social Service and the Country Church, Prof. Alva W. Taylor, Secretary, Bible College, Columbia, Mo.

These men, with the Executive Secretary of the Federal Council Commission, compose a Secretarial Council formed to secure harmony of action.

The formation of the Joint Committee on War Production Communities was finally consummated July 15, 1918. It consists of seven members from the Home Missions Council, two from the Council of Women for Home Missions and seven from the General War-Time Commission of the Churches. A request was made through the General War-Time Commission to the Commission on the Church and Social Service, that its Executive Secretary and the going force of its office, be requested to take executive management of the work. A common budget was established, the office force was sufficiently enlarged, and the work set up on an effective basis. Since the 15th of July, covering a period of approximately six months, cooperation has been established with several of the large denominational boards and war councils, and an understanding reached with the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A. and the Ordnance Department. The Joint Committee was given responsibility by the War Department for Protestant church work in ordnance reservations, similar to the responsibility of Jewish and Catholic bodies. Up to the present time Liberty churches have been started in seven of these centers and a few more will shortly be in operation. The steps leading up to this work have been trying in the extreme, and sometimes it has seemed an almost impossible task to bring the forces together, but it has been accomplished.

The Joint Committee has also undertaken work in the more established communities, such as shipbuilding centers, centers for the manufacture of airplanes, small arms and other war supplies. The plan has been to send in experienced community organizers, to bring about an effective organization of the churches for war purposes, to secure concerted effort to reach the new population especially the working people, and finally to organize the churches and other civic and social agencies in behalf of the social welfare of the new population. Community organization is now well under way in nineteen of these centers, and as rapidly as possible the various communities surveyed will be taken in hand. In all this local work the organizers are under the direction of the local churches as well as the Joint Committee, and in correct relations with community and governmental agencies.

The work in behalf of industrial women is getting started. Four women have been employed at different times at surveying and organizing the women of the churches in specific fields. At present, the Council of Women for Home Missions is organizing its office and plans are under way for several women community church organizers. One representative is now at work in the Chester field. The plan here is to arouse the interest of church women in the welfare of their sisters in their own communities, and to definitely organize the local churches for co-operation in behalf of women and girls in the industries.

Reverend Harold M. Kingsley gives his whole time to the organization of colored churches in industrial areas, in behalf of the new population which has come from the south, and for the industrial and social welfare of the negro population in ordnance reservations. He is also cooperating with Reverend W. E. Finley in the organization of the church work in southern logging camps. This work by Dr. Finley has grown out of initial surveys in southern logging camps which has revealed a most serious need of religious care. Two-thirds of the workers are negroes, and it will be necessary, therefore, to develop the two types of work side by side.

In order to maintain the work of the Commission on the Church and Social Service at full force it became necessary to bring in additional assistance and it was possible to secure the half-time service of Reverend F. Ernest Johnson of New York City, as Research Secretary. Mr. Johnson has taken over much of the burden of detail involved in the Commission work and has been doing valuable work in developing and reconstructing the literature of the Commission, in the preparation of the Labor Day Program and the Bibliography of Social Service, and in meeting representatives of national, social and religious agencies in the stated fields of social service, who came to the Commission for guidance with the churches and for cooperation.

During the year an American-Canadian Committee on Social Service has been formed for mutual helpfulness in common movements.

COMMISSION ON THE CHURCH AND COUNTRY LIFE

Chairman.....Gifford Pinchot
Executive Secretary....Rev. Edmund de S. Brunner
Field Secretary.....Rev. Charles O. Gill

The Commission has assisted in the organization of a Rural Life Association in Ohio, and a Committee of Interchurch Cooperation consisting of leading officials of eleven denominations to investigate and report upon conditions of country life as affecting the churches. A survey has just been completed covering the country districts in Ohio, comprising an area of 40,000 square miles. The findings will be published under the title, "Six Thousand Country Churches." Substantial results have been achieved in the forwarding of the movement for conservation and improvement of the country churches and rural life in Ohio, including the awakening of a strong desire among the farmers for Christian cooperation in the small communities and a radical change in the program of many churches in a large area.

The work of the Commission is indicated in the volumes entitled, "The Country Church" and "The Church and Country Life."

The war work of the Commission was merged for six months with that of the Social Service Commission and is now being carried forward energetically under the Committee on War Production Communities. State Conferences are being held, pastors and churches that have done significant war service are being listed and prepared for reconstruction tasks under the name of Rural Liberty Churches.

Chairman.....Hon. Carl E. Milliken
Chairman of Joint Exec. Com., Rev. Rufus W. Miller
Acting Exec. Sec.....Rev. Charles S. Macfarland

The Commission on Christian Education endeavors to serve all the denominations connected with the Federal Council as well as the several Commissions of the Council itself. Its special field is that of correlating the work of the various educational agencies of the churches and of promoting cooperation in a common program of religious education. It has given especial attention to the study of qualifications for ordination to the Christian ministry and has cooperated with the government in plans for sex education and social hygiene. It is at present engaged in a comprehensive study of the field and agencies of religious education in their bearing upon the problems of reconstruction.

Its work is set forth in the volume, "Cooperation in Christian Education."

COMMISSION ON INTERNATIONAL JUSTICE AND GOOD WILL

COMMISSION ON RELATIONS WITH THE ORIENT

Chairman.....Rev. William I. Haven
Secretary.....Rev. Charles S. Macfarland
Advisory Secretary.....Fletcher S. Brockman
Advisory Secretary.....Rev. Sidney L. Gulick

This Commission was established in response to memorials from missionaries in Japan, "to rally the Christian forces of the United States for the solution of American Oriental problems in accord with the highest standards of Christian Statesmanship."

Its work is outlined in "The Church and International Relations—Japan," one of the six volumes in the Library of Christian Cooperation, and the volume "The Japanese Problem in the United States."

Throughout the country a more sympathetic feeling toward Japan and her problems is apparent. While many factors have been at work, the contribution of this commission has been an important one.

GENERAL WARTIME COMMISSION OF THE CHURCHES

Chairman.....	Robert E. Speer
Vice-Chairman.....	Rt. Rev. William Lawrence
Secretary.....	Rev. William Adams Brown
Associate Secretary.....	Rev. Gaylord S. White
Assistant Secretary.....	Harold H. Tryon
" ".....	Rev. W. Stuart Cramer
" ".....	Rev. Jasper T. Moses

This commission had its inception at a meeting of the Federal Council at Washington on May 8 and 9, 1917. The discussion at that meeting developed the fact that some representative commission would be needed to act on behalf of the churches in their effort to deal with the new problems raised by the war; and the Administrative Committee was authorized to take the necessary steps to bring this about.

The purpose of the commission was defined as follows:

1. To coordinate existing and proposed activities and to bring them into intelligent and sympathetic relationship so as to avoid all waste and friction and to promote efficiency.
2. To suggest to the proper agency or agencies any further work called for and not being done.
3. To provide for or perform such work as can best be done in a cooperative way.
4. To furnish means of common and united expression when such is desired.

The spirit in which it approaches this task is expressed in the opening statement adopted by the commission at its first meeting—"The Commission will do its work in close cooperation with the existing agencies and commissions of the Federal Council, with the commissions or other war agencies in the various communions, and with the interdenominational agencies already at work. It will seek to serve them all as a clearing house of information and as an agency of sympathetic coordination. Its purpose is not to replace or duplicate, much less to check any activity directed toward dealing with the task which is too great for all the forces which can be brought to bear upon it.

Its purpose is to support and strengthen all such influence in the fullest measure to the end that the churches may be able to render the largest service to the young men of the nation and to the nation itself in this great and critical time."

The following list of important committees indicates the range of work, much of which will be continued through the period of demobilization and reconstruction: Survey of the Field and Work, General Committee on Army and Navy Chaplains, Camp Neighborhoods, War Production Communities (a joint committee officially representing also the Home Missions Council), Negro Welfare, Interned Aliens, War-Time Work in the Local Church and Cooperation with the American Red Cross, Social Hygiene and Sex Morality, Recruiting for the Work of the Churches at Home and Abroad, Exchange of Ministerial Service, Days of Prayer and the Devotional Life, Literature and Publicity. There are also Committees on Conference with the Young Men's Christian Association, Young Women's Christian Association and the War Camp Community Service.

The Annual Reports of the Federal Council for 1917 and 1918 contain further information concerning the work of the Commission.
